

HIV advisory participants wanted

Gilead Sciences, Inc. (Gilead), is seeking patients diagnosed with human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) who are interested in sharing their personal experiences as part of an advisory board. The information gathered will assist Gilead in gaining a better understanding, from the patient perspective, of living with HIV today and their experiences/general preferences for HIV management. Ultimately, the insights gathered will assist Gilead in developing educational materials, resources, and services that are intended to support and inform the HIV patient community.

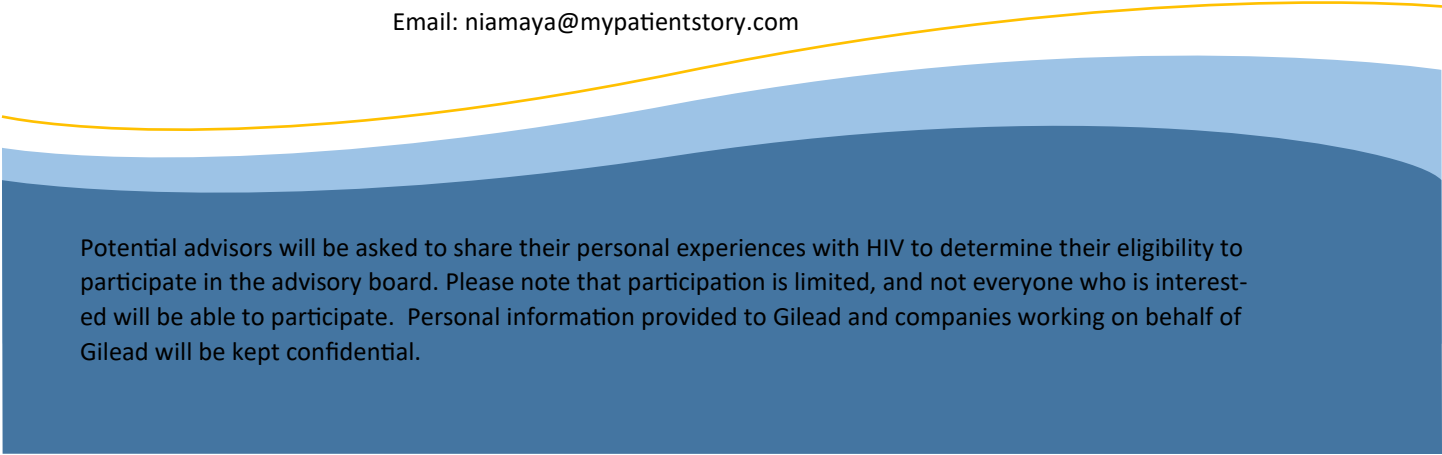

Advisor Criteria:

- Diagnosis of HIV
- Age 18 or older
- Personal knowledge of living with HIV and how to manage it
- No participation in any Gilead clinical trial (past or present)
- Not currently or previously a Gilead employee

If you or anyone who may be interested and fits the above criteria, please contact Gilead at:

Potential advisors will be asked to share their personal experiences with HIV to determine their eligibility to participate in the advisory board. Please note that participation is limited, and not everyone who is interested will be able to participate. Personal information provided to Gilead and companies working on behalf of Gilead will be kept confidential.
